The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) is now accepting applications for the Area Development program! This year, the application process has changed as follows:

Before an application can be submitted through ARC's Pathways system, prospective applicants must first provide a brief description of their proposed project. This description can be sent to either Northern Tier Regional Planning & Development Commission (NTRPDC) or directly to DCED. The applicant will then be issued a spin-up form, which must be completed and returned before the project can be advanced to ARC for review and access to the full application.

If your municipality, nonprofit, educational institution, or other eligible organization is considering an Area Development project, contact NTRPDC early as funding is first come first served! We can help determine whether your project is a good fit, guide you through the updated process, and assist you every step of the way.

Contact Kim Jennings, Economic Development Program Manager at jennings@northernier.org for more information!

NTRPDC Conducts Ag Needs Assessment

In 2025, the Northern Tier Regional Planning & Development Commission (NTRPDC), serving Bradford, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, and Wyoming Counties, created an Agriculture Industry Partnership (Agriculture IP) to bring together businesses in the local agriculture sector and address workforce and operational needs.

NTRPDC engaged Fourth Economy to conduct a comprehensive needs assessment to inform future strategic planning, partnership development, and funding initiatives. At its core, the assessment found that the agriculture industry needed support with marketing existing programs that support the sector, financing to help small operations remain viable, and strengthening connections within the industry to stabilize and grow food and agricultural businesses.
